

Lower School Orchestra Instructor
University Liggett School

University Liggett School seeks a Lower School Orchestra Instructor for the 2018-2019 school year. The position carries a part-time teaching load of between 10 and 12 hours a week. The candidate will instruct beginning string players in grade 3 and will continue the orchestra program in grades 4 and 5 on violin, viola, and cello. The instructor will also work with the Middle/ Upper School orchestra instructor to insure continuity and program quality. The workday and hours can be flexible around the successful candidate's schedule.

The ideal candidate for this position will possess experience working with lower school students as well as a background in music education and string instruments. Formal teaching experience is preferable, but recent graduates with the right skill set are encouraged to inquire. Attention to detail, a sense of humor, patience, flexibility, and excellent oral and written skills are a must.

Interested candidates should submit a cover letter and resume to Peggy Dettlinger, Head of Lower School at pdettlinger@uls.org.
